HOROSCOPE by Jacqueline

Welcome to the turning point of this year! With Uranus stationing direct and a New Moon in Sagittarius on the 5th we all shall experience a new emotional beginning for our philosophical beliefs. During this transition, all the planets will go forward until the 10th when Mercury goes retrograde. Until the 30th, we must be careful with our thoughts, actions and words as miscommunications and time delays become a reoccurring event in our lives. However, as Mars moves into Capricorn on the 7th, we feel relief as we become grounded enabling all of our actions to become focused on honor and duty. This Mercury retrograde will back up into Sagittarius on the 18th. Instead of being reactive, be proactive and use your actions and not your words to achieve the results you are looking for. Again, our emotions aren't being as challenged, because on the 21st the full moon will be void of course again. The beauty is if we use it to communicate what nurtures us to the universe on that day we will be able to see the path to our true bliss and with the sun going into Capricorn on that day, we'll know the direction to get there.

Aries March 23 - April 22 Because of the grounding effect, you have a greater understanding of the truth and become driven to make foundational changes now. However, with Mercury retrograde from the 10th to the 30th, you should take the time to gather information and re examine the path you've chosen. After the 30th, it's full steam ahead.

Taurus April 23 - May 22 With mercury going retrograde on the 10th, be mindful of your financial situation, you'll want to spend more than your budget will allow and end up paying for it later. You're water sign friends can help you take the time to make sure you're making the right choice. This is a good time to allow the past to remain in the past and to develop a new relationship with family and old friends.

Gemini May 23 - June 22 Your clarity on practical matters is strong after the new moon on the 3rd. This is a good time to make plans for foundational physical changes in your life. However, don't make a move towards them until after Mercury goes direct as you will be more grounded and assure with your deeds and words. So, speak up let your intentions be known and clear up any conflicts you've been having with others. You'll find your words to be more eloquent and precise.

Cancer June 23 - July 22 You'll find yourself wrapped up in the tradition of the month. This Mercury retrograde makes you a bit more sensitive than usual as you continue to shed your skin in preparations for a new beginning. But be cautious during this period; ask more questions gather your information before coming to any conclusions; the end results might surprise you. Be mindful to stay focused and be flexible with the projects you started in the fall, they're making a shift and will be wonderful when they're finished, just don't expect them to be finished now.

Leo July 23 - August 22 Your sense of duty and honor are heightened this month as mars goes into Capricorn and the Mercury retrograde influences your decisions. Use this intense desire to your advantage. Be like Santa and check everything twice. Make sound decisions to solidify your financial future and above all, make time and socialize with friends and family and enjoy the traditions and festivities that the season brings.

Virgo August 23 - September 22 No one should be alone this time of the year and that's especially true for you. You'll find comfort and happiness in others especially the fire and earth signs. Be alert as someone from the past may return, it's time for closure and not for friendship renewal. Seek out means for stability and security and seek what is functional, not necessarily the cheapest, easiest or most attractive.

Libra September 23 - October 22 This month will be challenging for you as Mars in Capricorn test your mettle and patience. Be not overly assertive on those that aren't as developed as you. With this Mercury retrograde, now is not the time to neither enlighten nor negotiate with others. Live in your own beauty and be like Santa, spread love and happiness in many places, but don't get stuck in one place too long. Know the rest will take care of itself in time.

Scorpio October 23 - November 22 During this period, friends, family and coworkers will find you totally irresistible this month. However your desires turn inward and you find yourself focused on home and hearth. Be flexible and learn to do both. Make the necessary appearances and enjoy the social gatherings for the holidays, then run home to do your nesting.

Sagittarius November 23 - December 22 Happy solar return! By now you're adept to life in the fast lane and this month will continue at that pace. With this Mercury retrograde, don't let fear stand in the way. If you desire it, you can do it, even if you've never done it before. There is where you'll find your greatest success and happiness.

Capricorn December 23 - January 22 This month brings a train of planets going over Pluto in your sign. Which means life is making foundational physical transformations. Before taking that first step, re examine the path you have chosen. The best time to start your

Well, it's finally happened: a gay Friday night in Vero. Duke's Bar in the Surf Club Hotel, the old Vero Beach Inn on A1A just north of Jaycee Park, has it going on every Friday. Pete O'Neil, promoter extraordinaire, has put this together with some old and some new faces. Pete's got the hotel behind the deal, which insures that Duke's Bar will have staying power and with Kelli Randell heading up the entertainment you know the show will be great. So if you haven't made it there yet be sure to check it out – it's a great location and nice enough to be worth a trip from Melbourne or PSL.

Vero Beach PFLAG has to be one of the nicest groups of people you'll find anywhere, with the biggest hearts, too. Throughout the year you'll find them working Pride of the Treasure Coast, cleaning up Route 60 in Vero, awarding scholarships, holding the longest-running Pride event in the area and giving...and giving...and giving. So when it comes to the season of giving, you can be sure Vero Beach PFLAG is right in the middle of it: canned goods for pantries, personal items for HIV/AIDS sufferers, toys for Youth Guidance and adopted families for Christmas. There's a core of about a half-dozen individuals who make all this happen and our area is better for them living here.

PFLAG Vero Beach had their Thanksgiving dinner (bottom) where the officers cook a complete dinner to thank the members for their participation and support during the year. Top left shows some of the canned goods collected in October for food pantries and top right shows some of the personal items collected at their dinner for HIV/AIDS sufferers.

So, of course, Vero Beach PFLAG is involved with the St. Lucie County HIV/AIDS Prevention Planning Group's World AIDS Day Avenue D Neighborhood Event on December 4, between 11 AM and 5 PM. The St. Lucie County Health Department and the Community Outreach Youth Program are also involved in putting on the youth oriented event which will feature liver entertainment a car and bike show, workshops, games, food and information from community organizations such as Florida Community Health and Pride of the Treasure Coast.

Up in Brevard County, Ultra Lounge is teaming up with Project Response and Family of God again this year for a World AIDS Day event including free testing and a candle light vigil in Cocoa Village at the gazebo. Rae Able has headed up the effort and been doing

Spiritually Speaking

Dear Savior, haste! Come, come to earth.

Dispel the night and show your face,
and bid us hail the dawn of grace.
O come, divine Messiah; the world in silence waits the day when hope shall sing its triumph and sadness flee away.

~ Abbé Simon Joseph Pelligrin; tr. by Sr. Mary of St. Philip

Such is the hope and aspiration that truly marks the Advent and Christmas seasons; that a savior would come and scatter the darkness and bring in the 'dawn of grace.' Other religions share in this hope, as seen in this excerpt from Hindu liturgy: "Come down to our world...Cast your glance upon us and pour out your blessings on all creatures, for it is time to be gracious toward us, from your throne in your heavenly world." The great Hebrew prophets and Psalmists longed for that day. Isaiah fervently prayed to God: "O that you would rend the heavens and come down...to make your name known...and cause the nations to quake before you!" (Isaiah 64:1,2)... "Hear us, O Shepherd of Israel...awaken your might; come and save us...look down from heaven and see!" (Psalm 80). Christmas carols and creeds lend their poetry speaking of "angels bending near the earth" and "the hopes and fears of all the years are met in thee (Bethlehem) tonight." The coming of the Christ Child is a convergence of heaven and earth. The Divine condescends to Humanity. "The Word becomes flesh and dwells among us." God has become one of us, taking on human flesh, establishing the dignity of human nature, to intervene in the affairs of mankind; bringing the gift of redemption.

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will towards humanity."

(Luke 2:14) The angelic proclamation, announcing Christ's birth

Because, truth be told, we need a savior. Throughout history mankind has achieved great things; invented technology to soar the skies, communicate instantly with other side of the globe; created advanced civilizations; and yet we still struggle with the basic problem since the beginning of it all...an inability to see each other as God's image. If we respected each other as God's image, we would not live in a world of crime, calamity, and corruption. This is so obvious to the one who can perceive without bias. The present global economic crisis due to corporate greed, the chasm between rich and poor, the bullying of gay teenagers (which has resulted in a wave of recent suicides), partisan politics, ethnic and sexual prejudices, religious extremists, threats of terrorism, petty arguments about whether a nativity scene can be displayed in the public square (this is the origin of the Christmas holiday—dah!) Should I go on? Humanity has had and continues to have a sad history of treating each other badly.

The recent attack by extremists on an Iraqi church in Baghdad (October 31) while services were being conducted massacred at 55 people, wounding 77, and most horrific—left two priests beheaded on the altar. The long and rich history of the Iraqi Church may soon come to an end as many Christians there are fleeing their own new chapter is in between December 30th to January 15th. So until then, use the intensity of the time to enjoy the tradition of the season.

Aquarius January 23 – February 22 An adventure is in store for you this month! This is a good time to socialize or take a vacation, just be patient with delays. Don't sweat the small stuff and let this Mercury retrograde slows your enthusiasm you have the ability to shine in the darkest of nights and make all around you bask in the holiday spirit. Rely on your earth sign friends to restore the passion and clarify misunderstanding with others.

Pisces February 23 – March 22 Prepare for a wild and crazy ride as destiny goes full throttle for you this month. There's no need for you to react, difficult choices will resolve themselves. Your focus should be on your long term financial goals. Make a budget for the holidays before the 5th and stick to it or you may find yourself over indulging. Use the Mercury retrograde to research practical ways to achieve your financial goals. But most of all enjoy the beautiful sounds of the holiday songs.

For those who want to know: Since I finished with the Planets, we will move onto the signs this month. Even though Capricorn is not the first sign of the zodiac, I am starting with it because of the impact it has right now. Capricorn is an earth sign. It rules Saturn, our teacher or time keeper. The key word I use for it is Honor. I described it as a steam roller. They are a large mass of force that moves slowly, especially when changing directions. If their energy shifts too quickly, they will tumble over. Their symbol is the mountain goat. The key phrase is "I use ". They can appear to be extremely cold, but there is a reason for that. Without feeling the emotional toll it takes to climb a mountain they can focus on the beauty the mountain provides. Right now, Pluto is having a train of planets pass over it in Capricorn. This change will lead all of us to see the beauty in the journey and not in the struggle to get there. All will be right in its own cosmic time all we must do is put one foot in front of the other.

homeland due to persecution and murder. In the nation of Israel, the ancient hatreds and struggles continue with Arab and Jew. Other countries we could mention are experiencing atrocities—unjustly and unfairly. Where is the peace the 'prince of peace' brought to earth? We have the capacity to destroy ourselves with atomic and biological weapons, bringing the human race to extinction. Is this what it's all about? Warmongers, swindlers, cheaters, murderers, and more? Where is God? God is watching in horror as we live out the gift of freewill and choice.

O Wisdom, holy Word of God, you rule all creation with power and true concern.
Come to teach us the way of salvation.

~ from the Great O Antiphons

The message of Christmas is not only one of peace and goodwill. It is one of salvation—whereby we can be changed and transformed into better people and into a more just and tolerant society. That's the good news and message of Jesus and many other spiritual leaders. Jesus is not only a love-gift, but a gift of love to share. This Christmas season, freely give and show kindness to others and even strangers, and you will know the meaning of 'greeting the divine' in all of us; you will look into a baby's face and see God. God's image is everywhere! Let us re-dedicate ourselves to the way of peace and the way of peace will set and order things right. May the peace of this holy season embrace our world; and may our faith embrace the One whose birth angels sing! Let us live in harmony and proclaim to the world God's jubilee of justice and liberation; and may God's blessing be upon us now and forever. Amen. Merry Christmas!

BRADENTON—From a story by NATALIE NEYSA ALUND, The Bradenton Herald

When Max Staebler came out of the closet he did not endure the taunts, slurs and threats that some of his classmates did after they said they were gay.

"My friends didn't reject me and my family was very supportive but I knew most people, their cases were different," the 16-year-old Southeast High School student said. "I wanted to give back to the people who had a much different situation when they came out."

Max was recently selected as one of 20 nationwide members on the Youth Advisory Council of the Trevor Project, a national organization focused on crisis and suicide prevention efforts among lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender and questioning youth. The 1994 film "Trevor," in which a high school student attempts suicide after realizing he's gay, inspired the project. In the film, Trevor, the main character, faces prejudice from his homophobic parents and friends.

Max, who last month returned from Trevor Project leadership training in Los Angeles, said he's concerned about others in the gay community who could be rejected and ridiculed as a result of their sexual orientation.

His concern also comes in the wake of news of suicides related to anti-gay bullying in California, Rhode Island and Texas.

Max, a member of the Junior Leadership Manatee Program, Southeast High's Technology Student Association and National Honor Society, said he knows classmates who have told their parents and were kicked out of the house. So he plans to facilitate workshops for teachers and students to hopefully increase awareness in middle and high schools and teach others how to safely intervene with friends or classmates who express suicidal thoughts.

"I want to teach them about the power of the word, how to spot the warnings signs and tell them what they can do to help others," he said. Not only does he plan to bring the Trevor Project to Manatee schools, he's pushing to start a Gay Straight Alliance, a club which promotes unity and understanding.

If approved, the club will be the first of its kind in Manatee's public school system.

Pinellas County schools have 16 such groups and Sarasota has one club at Booker High.

"We are very excited for Max to create a safer space on his campus and in his community," said Laura McGinnis, Trevor Project communications director. "Part of the reason why gay youth sometimes feel so isolated is because they have no community; they feel like no one else is like them. There's no better way to create that community than by having it led by a young person."

Southeast, an International Baccalaureate school on 37th Avenue East in Bradenton, has a diverse population of students from all socioeconomic backgrounds.

Max's mom, Patricia Staebler, stands behind her son's efforts.

"I could not be any more proud knowing my son will contribute to saving young lives," said his mother, who is past-chair of Junior Leadership Manatee.

"We're very proud of Max in showing such great leadership in trying to stop all forms of bullying," said schools Superintendent Tim McGonegal.

Blake Hanes, a Braden River High School alumnus, said he's hopeful the club will get started but doesn't expect it to happen any time soon.

"It will happen but will take a lot of effort," said Hanes, a freshman at State College of Florida, who was teased when he came out in middle school. "When the bullying started, I talked to the principal of my school at the time, I really think they just didn't know what to do. Didn't have much experience with it. So I think it's an incredible idea and I'm really proud of Max for doing that."

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The Gay & Lesbian Victory Fund announced that more openly lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender (LGBT) candidates won election to public office in the U.S. in 2010 than in any year in America's history. At least 106 of the group's record-breaking 164 endorsed candidates were winners as of Wednesday morning, including Providence, R.I., Mayor David Cicilline, who will become the fourth openly gay Member of Congress when the House convenes in January.

Victory Fund President and CEO Chuck Wolfe

a fantastic job organizing, following up and keeping everyone informed. Remember, December 1 in Cocoa Village and December 4 in Ft. Pierce. Pulling together to put on these events is something to be proud of.

Speaking of Pride, Maltz Jupiter Theatre is holding their second annual Pride Night December 17 with a performance of Academy, which was presented in a workshop production last year, and was accepted at last October's New York Musical Theatre Festival, where it won several awards, including an opportunity to be presented this summer at South Korea's Daegu International Musical Festival. So this is Academy's main stage world premier. It's set in an all-boys academy and explores the trials and tribulations of a couple of senior boys. Inspired by Goethe's Faust, Academy is a pop chamber musical about boys learning to become men - and remaining true to themselves. Pride Night starts with appetizers and cocktails and ends with a cast meet and greet with dessert after the show. For tickets call 561-575-2223, and remember to use the promo code: Pride. Maltz Jupiter Theatre is the former Burt Reynolds Theater in Jupiter.

Ticket sales were slow at The Living Room of Brevard's annual dinner. While some complained of the cost, it is the only dress up affair for our community and, really, just put $20 a month in an envelop and you'll have enough for dinner, drinks and an auction item! Look for more promotion surrounding the event next year and hopefully many more will attend because it really is a fantastic night. One yearly treat is to see what fabulous centerpieces Wayne and Steve at Brevard

(top) Attendees at The Living Room's annual dinner were treated to great food, pleasant entertainment (live background music) and a nice selection of silent auction items (bottom).

Florist will come up with. The Living Room has elected new board members and officers – oh, and if you don't know who they are, why don't you just drop into one of their community meetings and find out what's up? Next one is the third Monday of January – the 17th, Martin Luther King Day. It will be followed by the Space Coast Pride committee meeting. The meetings are held at Project Response, 745 S. Apollo, in Melbourne, starting at 7 PM.

And have you noticed that the annual Space Coast Pride logo contest is going on? Deadline is December 31 so get drawing and if you don't draw get after your friends to stop with the Photoshop "enhancing" Facebook photos and get going on a design for all the Space Coast Pride 2011 T-shirts, advertising and other collateral! The winner will be decided by a public vote on www.SpaceCoastPride.org with the winner announced at the first 2011 Pride Benefit at Cold Keg on February 20, 2011.

issued the following statement about the group's success:

"There is no sugar-coating the loss of so many of our straight allies in Congress, but we can be proud that our community continues to expand its voice at all levels of government in America. Out public officials are having a sizable impact on the local, state and national debates about LGBT equality. Increasing their numbers is a vital part of a long-term strategy to change America's politics and make our country freer and fairer for everyone. We will continue to focus on training committed, qualified candidates, and we will work hard to get them elected to public office."

Important 2010 election results include:

- David Cicilline's election to Congress. The Providence, R.I. mayor will be the fourth openly gay member of the U.S. House of Representatives, joining Reps. Tammy Baldwin, Barney Frank and Jared Polis, who each won reelection.
- Jim Gray's election as mayor of Lexington, Kentucky's second-largest city.
- Nickie Antonio's election to the Ohio House. Antonio will be the first openly LGBT person to serve in the state legislature.
- Marcus Brandon's election to the North Carolina House. Brandon will be the state's only openly gay state legislator and one of just five out African Americans to serve as state lawmakers.
- Victoria Kolakowski's election as a Superior Court judge in Alameda County. Kolakowski becomes the first openly transgender judge in America.
- Kevin Lembo's election as Connecticut State Comptroller. Lembo joins just a handful of openly LGBT candidates to have been elected to statewide positions.
- Laurie Jinkins' election to the Washington State House. Jinkins is Washington's first openly lesbian state legislator, and could help her gay colleagues pass a marriage equality bill in the next legislative session.

- Maryland's and California's expanded LGBT state legislative caucuses. Each will include seven openly gay and lesbian lawmakers. In Maryland, the caucus is poised to help pass marriage equality legislation, which the reelected Gov. Martin O'Malley has vowed to sign.
- Dan Hill's loss in his Nevada House race. The Victory Fund's endorsed Republican candidates for state legislative seats were not successful, meaning no openly LGBT Republicans will be serving as state lawmakers next year.

The Gay & Lesbian Victory Fund is the only national organization dedicated to increasing the number of openly LGBT elected officials at all levels of government in the U.S. It has grown that number from 49 to more than 500 since its founding in 1991. A full 2010 Election Scorecard will soon be available at www.victoryfund.org.

UP n Smoke in Vero Beach is now open from 10 AM to 7 PM and noon to 7 on Sundays. Stop in and say hi to Wade and check out their offerings, including copies of this mag!

Note to the careful reader: Last month we said “David McKinnon’s In My Words column and Joseph Sunday’s Art in Your Eye will return next month.” After careful consideration and listening to criticism we decided to return In the News with several informational pieces in place of the other two columns. When advertising revenue allows us to increase the number of pages we will be happy to bring David’s and Joseph’s contributions back.

Gay Right tidbit: According to a report on Queerty.com, high school propaganda distributor Parents and Friends of Ex-Gays and Gays (PFOX) is no longer an eligible member of the World Bank’s Community Connections Campaign — meaning the ex-gay group will not receive matching funds for employee donations from the international capital giant. Explains one anonymous World Bank staffer: “If a charitable association supporting female genital mutilation, a pro-life organization or an association claiming it can turn black people white had wiggled its way in the CCC, The Bank’s management would have removed it immediately and issued an apology.” PFOX was initially included on the World Bank’s CCC list, just above PFLAG, as an effort to “increase diversity.” Say what?

Don’t see your event mentioned? Did you tell me about it? I’m a fairy, not a seer, silly! Let me know, drop a line to MissT@ootcmag.com

DJ Spin’s birthday party at the Keg featured a special performance by Lucy and company, Velvet and Lacy’s homemade cake. It made that Trash Night even more fun!
